PERSONALIZED REPORTING EXPERIENCES

Acumatica's user interface enables users to design dashboards with little or no training to deliver real-time information customized for their needs. Users can also customize a "home" dashboard as well as a dashboard for each different module.

ARM ENHANCEMENTS IN ACUMATICA

Acumatica's Analytical Reporting Manager (ARM) enables free-form report creation utilizing rows, columns, and units. ARM enhancements offer improved performance and easier maintenance.

- Specify multiple, non-continuous ranges in the data source for accounts, subaccounts, and branches in the general ledger engine.
- Merge unit, column, or row set data sources in scenarios where the unit, column, or row data point to potentially overlapping ranges.
- Sort a range of rows within a report from ascending to descending order.
- Use auto-expansion for unit sets within general ledger reports.
- Allow for amounts to be rounded to the nearest dollar, thousand, million, or billion with the rounding feature.
- Simplify formulas involving division by treating NaN (not a number) and infinity values as empty values.
- Perform calculations that are relative to a value contained in another row.
